CHAMBERS

Dyers Chambers

www.dyerschambers.com

Dyers Chambers are a very established London chambers of barristers who have been instructed for some of the most serious, complex and high profile criminal cases in the United Kingdom. In 2008/09 they were instructed in over forty murder cases, three SFO cases – prosecuting and defending – the largest ever confiscation case, as well as the most significant House of Lords decision on proceeds of crime.

Deciding to both rebrand and move from the business address they had been present in for so many years they approached Byte Art London to create a new website as their current online presence was not achieving their desired goals of attracting new clients and representing them in the best light possible.

We subsequently reworked the site to a more minimal style of design along with integrating a modern content management system and a staff intranet to help workflow.
